PROF. CHANDLER of New York City, in a lecture delivered by him at Cooper Institute, March 15, 1870, said:

"It is hardly necessary to enlarge upon the terrible accidents which have resulted from the use of unsafe kerosene; you have only to read the newspapers from day to day to see them. It is stated by some that these are exaggerated; that these accidents never occur, and that you and I never had a friend burned to death; still we do have an enormous number of terrible accidents from petroleum. In the last seven months of 1869 there were fifty five kerosene accidents in New York, resulting in twenty-three deaths, eighteen serious injuries and fourteen slight ones. The total result for the year 1869, for the City of New York which I myself have cut from newspapers is fifty-two fatal accidents from dangerous kerosene, fifty severe and six slight, in all 108 persons to my knowledge, from my own reading have been injured by kerosene in one year."

J. H. HORNER, } Associate Principals.
R. H. GRAVES, }

THIS SCHOOL which has been for the last twenty years under the exclusive charge of J. H. Horner, will henceforth be conducted under joint supervision of the above principals, with competent assistant instructors in every department.

The course of study has been extended, and boys will be thoroughly fitted for advanced classes in College, especial reference being had to the qualifications requisite to admission into the Senior classes in the University of Virginia, or Washington Lee University. The latter of which has again conferred upon the school the honor of a scholarship in that Institution.

A regular course of study in Natural Science, Commercial Science and the Modern Languages has been added to the school for those students, who, desiring to acquire only a complete business education may wish to substitute these studies for Latin and Greek.

No pains will be spared to render the instruction in the school efficient and to furnish to students the most ample facilities for thorough preparation for College or for the acquisition of a good business education; and the principals flatter themselves that their long and successful career as teachers is a sufficient guarantee that the school will be in all respects worthy the public confidence and support.

The Spring Session will open the second Monday in January.

Circulars containing terms and full particulars furnished upon application to either of the principals.

THE OLD NORTH STATE.

The editor of this journal is very positive on one point at least; he is clearly persuaded that the Governor is "entitled to the services of the most eminent lawyers of the State." After quoting from the SENTINEL of a recent date, some remarks we thought proper to make on this subject, the editor says:

We do not know what was the SENTINEL's object in publishing the above paragraph. It looks very much as if it was intended to forestall public opinion, and thereby deter Conservative lawyers of eminence from accepting a retainer from the Governor. If such really was the SENTINEL's intention, it is to be hoped that they will treat the attempt to frighten them from their duty as such an attempt should be treated. We have heard that Gov. Holden intends to avail himself of the professional services of two of the most eminent Conservative lawyers in the State in his defence. And high as our respect for both of the distinguished gentlemen has ever been it will be still higher should they have the moral courage to appear for him under the circumstances. In doing so they will not forfeit the confidence, respect or esteem of any man whose good opinion is worth having, but will more firmly secure it.

We had heard that Gov. Holden had applied to Gov. Bragg to defend him, and also that he would probably apply to Gov. Graham. These we take it, are the two distinguished gentlemen alluded to by the Old North State. Gov. Graham, Gov. Bragg, Judge Battle, Judge Merrimon, and Mr. Moore, not for the sake of fees, but for a love of liberty, have been counsel for the people in the great outrage upon personal liberty for which the Governor is now arraigned. When these gentlemen saw Pearson, Holden, Kirk and Burgen pursuing a course which Judge Brooks in his opinion characterized as "outrage and barbarities" upon the people of Caswell and Alamance, they put themselves on the side of liberty and the Constitution against the usurpations and barbarities of Holden, who was "substantially sustained" in his acts by Judge Pearson.

Apropos to the remarks of the Old North State, read what Judge Battle said in arguing the habeas corpus case of A. G. Moore and others before Judge Pearson:

"May it please your honor, before entering upon the discussion of the merits of the motion which we now make, I must be permitted to make a few preliminary remarks as to the manner in which the counsel for the petitioners have been treated. The organ of the Executive in this city has done all in its power to deprive the petitioners of the benefit of this valuable right of employing counsel, by attempting to destroy the influence of such as they employed. The counsel have been villified and abused in various ways: have been called Ku Klux, and stigmatized as sympathizers with murderers and assassins. Nay, sir, one of my friends and associates has not only been abused, but threatened. An article against him closes with the emphatic word Beware! Beware of what! Why, of having his family, his liberty, or his life taken from him. And for what! For nothing but appearing in this and similar cases."

We take the liberty of saying that these gentlemen, after the noble stand they took in the cause of civil liberty and of the rights of the people, could not be expected to appear for the great criminal who perpetrated the outrages.

We should be glad to see the Managers of the impeachment, whose time must be much engrossed with legislative matters, call in the assistance of some of the distinguished members of the Bar who have fought the despotism of Holden, Kirk and Pearson in a manner worthy of Hampden or of Sydney.

These gentlemen that Mr. Hanes would engage for the defense of Holden are familiar with the whole matter. They have acted with Rogers and Murray who were hung up by the neck; and with Gray and Holden, who were manacled and imprisoned. They are identified with the cause, with the lovers and defenders of liberty and humanity. They are identified, as counsel, with the oppressed, whose prisons, by their exertions and the aid of Judge Brooks, flew wide open, against the will of Pearson, Kirk and Holden.

We say, let the Governor have counsel for him have able counsel; the constitution and the privilege accorded to all parties demand it for him.

Mr. Hanes need not fear for his friend. As long as the Republican party can boast such eminent Lawyers as Gen. Butler, B. Boyd, Saling, Boyden, Barringer [illegible] Dobbs, not to mention Phillips, Marston, Starbuck, Loasbee, Winky Billy Boasting Dick, his Excellency cannot want for counsel. Indeed we we fear he will have too much counsel already, instead of suffering for want of it, unless it be of a better sort.

"THE ENVENOMED ACCUSER"

The Old North State, by innuendo, calls the Governor's most "envenomed accuser." If we were such, we should have only one more count to his indictment, charging him with "gross palpable and willful lying," and then would have proved the charge by Hon. Lewis Hanes, himself. We never so "concerned," Mr. Hanes, as to charge the Governor privately in different lying, when we dare not charge publicly.

"HON. CRAWFORD OF ROWAN."

The Old North State, speaking of the [illegible] his eloquent representative on the [illegible] of impeachment says:

"His speech is grand and exhibits a clear and convincing, and the [illegible] and exhaustive. It [illegible] question speedily ground to [illegible]

INTERNAL REVENUE.

THE JOHNSON AND GRANT ADMINISTRATION COMPARED. HOW IS THIS?

From the Sunday, Times, Philadelphia.

Mr. Delano has made another report—the last he is to make as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, as he has become a Cabinet Minister. This report has had premature publication, so it is said, and the wonder is how it found its way to the public clandestinely.

If one reads it understandingly, the wonder will cease, and contempt for its self-praise will disclose the reason for its hasty appearance.

Mr. Delano, once upon a time, had a strong predisposition to Andrew Johnson and his "swinging round the circle" performances. He, however, was saved from the plunge which he meditated by some strong hand and a very stout coat-tail, which was the link between "our Columbus" and the aforesaid hand. Like all apostates running from their apostasy, he hastens to condemn those whose political faith he would have espoused, and, in this report, makes a comparison between the closing eighteen months of Andrew Johnson's administration and the first eighteen months of that of President Grant, very much to the advantage of the latter, in the matter of collections of internal revenue.

Statements put forth by an officer of the government should always bear the impress of candor, and particularly so coming from a functionary like the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, or their value will not amount to much for the purpose that they are intended to accomplish.

Congress wants intelligent information, and to that end has passed laws requiring certain officials to annually communicate to the two Houses such information as they may be able to give, with a view to make use thereof in framing legislation for the carrying on of the government.

Columbus Delano has seen proper to get up a campaign document, instead of the report which he should have made to Secretary Boutwell. This comparison, above referred to, is clap-trap of the most transparent kind—a dodge which might do for a pettifogger from some provincial neighborhood, but disgraceful as a public document.

Here is the comparison in detail—the figures being in round millions, as they are most easily comprehended:

Andrew Johnson, From Sept. 1, 1867, to Feb. 28, 1869. Million Dollars.		U. S. Grant, From March 1, 1869, to Aug. 31, 1870. Million Dollars.
Spirits	42	Spirits	95
Tobacco and Cigar	20		47
Fermented Liquors	9		10
Gross Receipts	9		10
Sales	10		13
Income	80		98
Banks and Bankers	4		7
Special Taxes	11		17
Legacies and Successions	4		5
Gas	2		3
Articles now exempt	53		1
Stamps	25		25
Penalties	2		1
Articles in Sched. A	1		2
Total	241		291

Grant—fifty millions ahead!

To get this up, required some nice cyphering, and several skillful accountants no doubt "went into figgers" heavily to determine just how it should be made up to the best advantage. Luckily for "our Columbus," the closing of the former and the commencement of the latter administration were the best adapted to the purpose.

But look into this scheme—

Johnson's eighteen months take in the collection of but one annual tax—Grant's take in the collection of two annual taxes!

For instance—income tax yields fifty millions under Johnson—sixty-eight under Grant.

Special taxes, under Johnson, eleven millions—under Grant, seventeen millions.

Then again, during the months of May, June, July, and August, the largest consumption of distilled spirits, tobacco and cigars and fermented liquors takes place. Also the largest returns of railroads for carrying passengers occur, which are taxed under the head of Gross Receipts. During the same period, the increased tax on the sales of liquors (which was imposed by Act July 20, 1868) would be larger than during any other four months of the year.

Now, Mr. Delano has but one period, from May to August, in Johnson's time, while he has two such periods in Grant's time.

In 1868, from about February until July 20—on which day the bill became a law, reducing the tax on distilled spirits, and inaugurating a stamp system for collecting the tax thereon, as well as on tobacco and cigars—the agitation of the question of tax on spirits, tobacco and cigars, prevented the manufacture of either except for immediate consumption. And after the law July 20, 1868, was passed, it was months before distillers had got their distilleries ready to operate, or the government had prepared stamps to be used upon spirits, tobacco and cigars. This condition of things worked against revenue; and this was during Johnson's eighteen months, so that "our Columbus" has happily chosen the most unfortunate period of the Johnson dynasty. Of course this is "fair in politics." But what becomes of the Commissioner when we take a fiscal year and compare it with a fiscal year?

The comparison stands thus by—

Fiscal year 1868, Johnson, 191 millions
" " 1869, Johnson and Grant, 160 "
" " 1870, Grant, 183 "

"All very well," says Mr. Delano; "but how about the difference in the rates of tax, and the articles taxed during the Johnson period, which were exempted during the Grant period?

Just this, Mr. Delano—that while you and others aided Andrew Johnson to disorganize the Republican party, from 1866 along down to the end, almost, of his administration, the service became demoralized, and collections fell off as a consequence; and the tax on distilled spirits, being two dollar per gallon, was so high under this demoralization as to make it impossible to collect it. It went into the hands of those who favored illicit operations, and who were Andrew Johnson's friends!

In 1868, the tax on distilled spirits was reduced to about sixty-three cents per gallon. The defective system was repealed and one of prepayment adopted. Under this new system, during the period from July 20, 1868, to June 30, 1869, about (62) sixty-two millions gallons distilled spirits were removed for consumption, and paid tax—while during the whole of the preceding fiscal year only 6,769,448, or less than seven million gallons paid tax.

The gain, therefore, in quantity of spirits taxed, was over (55) fifty five millions gallons during the first year of the law of July 20, 1868.

Now, as Mr. Rollins was Commissioner part of the time, and Mr. Delano part of the time during that year, let us compare:

Rollins, with distilleries idle from July 1 to October 1.		Delano, with distilleries in full blast.
1868.	Gals. Spirits.	1869.	Gallons Spirits.
May	2,751,641	March	4,457,816
August	3,760,062	April	6,063,325
December	3,917,048	May	5,078,062
October	4,305,397	June	5,474,419
November	5,180,530	Four months	21,073,622
December	5,440,260
10th
January	5,042,980
February	4,999,405
6 months	30,497,623

Which exhibit shows that Rollins collected, during his last eight months, on some (29) thirty-two million gallons, more than was returned during the whole of the preceding year; that he collected during his eight months at an annual rate of (59) fifty-nine million gallons; while Mr. Delano, during his four months only reached the annual rate of (66) million gallons. Why that the law of 1868 was a much more effective one than the preceding it, so far as the tax on spirits is concerned; and that to this effective law is due the increased revenues from the main objects of taxation, and not to the very superior administration of the Commissioner's office under Mr. Delano. In proof of this, Mr. Rollins gained on himself at the rate of over (50) fifty million gallons per annum, and Mr. Delano continued to gain, but only at the rate of about (7) seven million gallons per annum, over Rollins' rate, with distilleries in full blast; while during Rollins' last eight months the distilleries were idle during three months. With regard to tobacco, Mr. Delano knows that the pre-payment by use of stamps is the feature of the act of 1868 which has contributed to the large increase of tax on manufactured tobacco and cigars; and that the bettered civil condition of the recently insurrectionary States, has largely contributed thereto.

So far as the increase from other objects and sources of 1870 over 1869, is concerned, the fact just adverted to, that of the bettered civil condition of the Southern States, is sufficient to show the increased revenue from stamps, gross receipts, sales, income, banks and bankers, special taxes, legacies and successions and fermented liquors.

But let us compare some of Mr. Delano's items for 1870, with Mr. Rollins' for 1868, since "our Columbus" is fond of that sort of thing—

	1868	1870
Income	$41,455,598	$37,730,982
Special taxes, omitting those on liquors, Schedule A	12,945,761 1,134,939	9,647,900 907,391
Total	$54,825,606	$48,216,223

Here it appears that Mr. Delano falls behind Mr. Rollins to the tune of between six and seven millions dollars, with no change in tax, the rates being the same during both periods, while the law has been less impeded in its operation in the Southern States, than during 1868.

But, to "our Columbus." Eighteen months' comparison once more. He says that Grant, during eighteen months, collected from income an aggregate tax of

	$68,000,000
And Johnson only	50,000,000
Showing an aggregate gain of	$18,000,000

Let us analyze this statement—

The income tax of 1868, Johnson period, was	$41,455,598.00
The income tax of 1869, Andy Johnson, had Grant, was	34,786,967.00
The income tax of 1870, Grant period, was,	37,730,982.00

Now Mr. Delano gained on himself in the year 1870, over the year 1869, about (3) three million of dollars. But, taking the average of the two years, he falls short of the last Johnson collection by over (5) million dollars!

Our able cotemporary, the Norfolk Virginian, has the following, which will commend itself to every thinking tax payer in the country. We advise all to read, learn and inwardly digest this statement:

HOW WE ARE TAXED.

It is a curious fact that Nashville was without salt a few days ago, if we may credit a dispatch from that city, and yet this indispensible commodity has the present enormous tax, the amount of which we shall presently show, still retained on it! Indeed, the enormities of the present system of taxation are so great that the New York Times begins a leading article, in its impression of the 20th, with this significant impeachment of the Radical financier of the Senate:

"The people, says our cotemporary, ask for relief from the excessive burden of taxation, and Senator SHERMAN mocks them with a bill to correct some mistakes in the duties on sugar. That is all the help he proposes to furnish. The Senate, it is plain, will be required to choose between the recommendations of its Finance Committee and the demand of the country.

The demand of the country is for relief from taxation, and the great necessity for this is shown by the statement of Mr. DAWES that the appropriations for the next fiscal year cannot be reduced below $280,000,000, just $200,000,000 more than it required ten years ago to sustain the government in all its branches!

The Times is right in its admonitions to Congress, for the people will have a modification of the present iniquitous system. How iniquitous it is may be seen at a glance from the following statement of duties levied on a few articles consumed in this country:

THE RICH MAN'S TARIFF.

With these facts before the people the party now in power sits for a brief season on nitro-glycerine which will explode in 1872.—Norfolk Virginian.

REMARKS OF MR. WILCOX OF ASHE ON MONDAY LAST IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES UPON THE QUESTION OF CONCURRING IN THE REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PER DIEM AND MILEAGE.

MR. SPEAKER: In regard to this matter of per diem and mileage, I beg leave to state that I as one of the Committee of Conference on the part of the House recommended the bill just read before the House as a compromise bill between the two contending parties, and with a view of justice to both sides of the question. Some members of this body desire to fix the per diem at $6 whilst others propose to reduce it to $4.

Now sir, with a view of conciliating these differences of opinion, I as one of the Committee recommended $5, I did so, conscientiously, hoping that all further debate and waste of time would be stopped. Upon this compromise the House and Senate refused to concur, thereby bringing on another series of debates which debates cost the State of North Carolina, $150 every hour. At this rate it is evident that we have wasted at the least calculation $18,000 on this question of minor importance, which question could or should have been settled in one hour after the regular organization of this General Assembly, and I arise this morning to appeal to this body in behalf of some of our friends who are here without one cent to defray their necessary expenses, their board bills are due, and are being presented to them every day, and fully two-thirds of this body are unable to discharge them as it becomes Representatives and gentlemen. Now sir, in justice to these gentlemen, I ask this body to fix a per diem at something so as to enable the members of this Assembly to pay off the demands that are standing against them, in view of this I propose to concur in the motion of the gentleman from Beaufort begging another Committee of Conference and thereby cut of all further debate.

SPEECH OF HON. JOHN MANNING, Jr., of North Carolina, in the Congress of the United States, on Wednesday 21st inst., on the Amnesty Bill.

Mr. BINGHAM. I now yield to the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. MANNING] for ten minutes of my time.

Mr. MANNING. Mr. Speaker, although one of the youngest members of this House, and confessing to a feeling of great embarrassment, I ask you to hear me a few words in behalf of the people I have the honor to represent in part on this floor. It is now nearly six years since a confederate soldier fired a gun in defense of the "lost cause" and against the Federal Union. Amnesty by this bill is proclaimed to the great mass of the southern people; and yet, to serve some purpose or other, the leading men throughout the South are not permitted to enter these Halls. If this proscription is intended as a punishment to them it does not amount to much, for the people among whom they live, as they are singled out from among them for punishment on account of their prominence in the late rebellion, a prominence to which they had been elevated by their votes, wear them in their hearts, and enshrine them higher and higher in their affections. By this course you but increase their influence and heighten their importance. In a party point of view the majority in this House gain nothing, for while we may thus be prevented from sending our ablest and our best men to help you in raising this stupendous edifice of constitutional liberty, resting it firmly upon the broad foundation of equal rights and just laws, the South can and will send men who upon party questions will be just as sure to give party votes and will know just as well how to pronounce the party shibboleth.

I will not suppose that the majority of this House fear the influence of the silver-tongued orators, wise statesmen, and patriotic hearts of the South. Does that majority entertain the opinion that these men cherish in their hearts a hatred for the Government of the United States, a contempt for its laws, and a purpose to set themselves factiously in opposition to the reconstruction acts of Congress? If this opinion is honestly entertained, as it doubtless is by some, let me assure them that they are mistaken. We are not fools, nor are we knaves; we stand pledged before the American people to accept and to carry out in good faith the reconstruction policy of Congress, and the Legislature of North Carolina, but recently elected, Democratic by a two-thirds majority, has by act and deed made good this pledge, notwithstanding what has been said by the gentleman from Ohio, by electing a colored man to office. Is this proscription intended to make treason odious? Why, it makes it respectable, and makes heroes frequently out of men who but for this would be undistinguished and overlooked. I see no possible good that this proscriptive policy can do the country at large or the Republican party, but, in my humble judgment, it does the whole country much harm, and is ruinous to the southern States. A wise policy and a prudent forethought for the future welfare of this great people would indicate that "our bruised arms should be hung up for monuments; our stern alarums changed to merry meetings;" and the wise, the good, and the great should be encouraged to assemble here; and under this broad Dome, peopled with so many thousand cherished memories, renew our solemn vows to the goddess of liberty, and strain every nerve of brain and of body to promote the prosperity, happiness and union of this great people; and to that end I pledge the Democratic party of North Carolina.

In North Carolina we are poor, abused, overwhelmed with debt, and oppressed. We fret and chafe, not so much at Federal legislation, though that has been most injurious to us in many instances, but over our own State legislation and government. We fret because a Legislature, in two sessions, in a time of great adversity, ran our public debt up from $17,000,000 to $39,000,000. We chafe because our State bonds have been poured by millions into the laps of irresponsible railroad presidents, without any security or guarantee whatever that their proceeds would be applied to the building of our railroads, and that all this treasure should go into the pockets of bad men, and our railroads hardly begun. We complain because our offices are filled by incompetent men; we mourn that the public peace is not preserved; we are indignant at the arrest of our citizens without warrant or authority of law, and that after weeks of confinement in dungeons with felons and murderers it should be admitted in open court that there is no evidence against them, and our State judges failing, those men are discharged by a United States Republican judge; we are outraged by the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus and the proclamation of military law; and because we complain and speak warmly and excitedly about these things we are told that we are disloyal to the Government of the United States, and that the men upon whom we rely to retrieve our State credit, to relieve our people, to protect our lives and the little of property left us are unfit to occupy their fathers' seats, and find the doors of their fathers' mansions closed in their faces; denounced as prodigals, but no way left open for their return.

This bill does not propose to remove political disabilities, but it proclaims amnesty for crimes committed without law or under any authority purporting to be law. This Congress has removed the political disabilities of many belonging to every class excepted by this bill. Why, then, make any discrimination now? As to amnesty, each State has passed an amnesty act in the South which, so far as quarrels, suits, and indictments are concerned, accomplishes all the purposes intended by this bill in a vast majority of the cases, to wit, in all criminal proceedings in the State courts.

It is because of our having aided with our might the cause of the late rebellion that we ask amnesty and the removal of our disabilities. If we had done nothing we would not need amnesty, and as we did all we could then, so now we pledge an equal faith, and equal zeal, an equal energy in the cause of the Union.

We shall therefore vote first for the amendment of the gentleman from Ohio, [Mr. BINGHAM,] and then for the substitute offered by the gentleman from Illinois, [Mr. FARNSWORTH.]

Mr. BINGHAM resumed the floor.

On the same question, Mr. SHOBER made the following speech:

AMNESTY.

The House again resumed the consideration of the amnesty bill.

Mr. SHOBER. Mr. Speaker, in the few moments allowed me I cannot enter at any length into the discussion of the question before the House. So far as it relates to the removal of political disabilities from every citizen, and the full and complete restoration of all his privileges, I desire to express my earnest conviction of the wisdom and justice of such a measure.

It is conceded that the great mass of proscribed citizens, the rank and file of the disfranchised, should now be relieved; but it is insisted that a discrimination must be made against the leaders, as they are called. Had such discrimination been enforced heretofore it might with some show of reason be now adhered to. But Congress has virtually repudiated such a policy by relieving many prominent citizens embraced within this exceptional class. You cannot, therefore, justly continue this proscription of certain classes of men because of their greater criminality as a class, for you have in effect declared this to be no criterion of the measure of guilt. The truth is, that when the first bill relieving certain citizens, by name, from political disabilities was passed by Congress it followed logically that all other citizens of the same class were entitled to the same measure of relief. Who are the disfranchised citizens under the operation of the third section of the fourteenth article of amendment? Not necessarily those who took up arms against the Government; not necessarily the leaders, if you please, of the secession movement. These are not the tests by which disfranchisement is fixed upon the citizens. He alone is put under the ban who, having held a certain position or office before the war, afterward participated in it against the Government, even though in a merely technical sense. The officer who resigned his position in the Army of the United States and afterward commanded armies in the confederate cause, and the constable or justice of the peace who continued in office when his State joined her fortunes with the confederate government, are placed in the same category. There is no discrimination made between these different classes of men; they are in the same degree of guilt by the terms of the fourteenth amendment. Now, the conclusion to my mind is inevitable that, as the test of criminality here is purely arbitrary, when you relieve one of a class and withhold such relief from the remainder of that class you act unjustly. With what show of justice or consistency can you now propose to make invidious discrimination among any of these classes of men when you have already granted relief to their respective associates? Sir, let us no longer trifle with this important subject; let us act as statesmen and not as partisans in dealing with it, and, by adopting the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Illinois, make the measure of relief for our disfranchised fellow citizens impartial, consistent, and complete.

ELECTION FRAUDS.—The train from Charlotte, on Saturday, brought down a large number of negroes into the 26th Senatorial District, who shouted "hurrah for Smith" all along the road.

Billy and Holden can't afford to be beaten, therefore Billy calls in all the employees of the road and as many more as he can get, to vote at the Shops, which he claims as their home.

J. L. DANIEL, GREENVILLE, N. C., you can get information concerning the corn you enquire about, by writing to Col. Robert Bingham, Mebanceville, N. C.—Perhaps he can furnish you seed. We planted some last Spring, which promised finely, but our hired freedmen ate it all up in the roasting ears, and we failed to save seed.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO LOUIS, AND MANY THANKS TO MR. JORDAN.—Gov. Caldwell, in response to a resolution introduced in the House by Mr. Jordan, of Person, asking of the Executive the number of employees of all kinds, including spies and detectives, in that department, the amount paid each, &c., reported to the House that Gov. Holden had paid, among other extravagant expenditures, five thousand dollars to his son-in-law, Louis Olds, for professional services, over and above his salary as Attorney General!

Was anything like it ever heard of before? We hope the Legislature will, on reassembling, order a report of what services of Louis this large sum was paid for. Verily, this is taking good care of the family! No wonder that Joe voted against Phillips in the Convention, as a candidate.

XMAS.—Time, in his ceaseless march, walking over new-made graves, crushing hearts and scattering smiles and tears, has brought around another anniversary of that glorious event which promised "peace on earth; good will to men."

We tender the congratulations of the season to all our readers, hoping they may all enjoy the festivities of the holidays, and begin the next new year with brighter prospects than any previous one.

We shall not publish another paper until Thursday morning, in order to give the employees of the office, and all others connected with it, a short respite from the labors of the past year.

Our advice to all is, keep sober, remember the poor, love your spouses, be pious, vote the Democratic ticket, and keep out of debt,

MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE would do well, before going home, to call on MISS GETTINGER for a bonnet or a hat to take home with them. She has the most fashionable and largest stock in the city; for taste she cannot be surpassed, and in her prices she is very reasonable.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," handy and useful.

The Great Pictorial Annual.

Hostetter's United States Almanac for 1871, for distribution, gratis, throughout the United States, and all civilized countries of the Western Hemisphere, will be published about the first of January, in the English, German, French Norwegian, Welsh, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish languages, and all who wish to understand the true Philosophy of health should read and ponder the valuable suggestions it contains. In addition to an admirable medical treatise on the causes, prevention and cure of a great variety of diseases, it embraces a large amount of information interesting to the merchant, the mechanic, the miner, the farmer, the planter, and professional man; and the calculations have been made for such meridians and latitudes as are most suitable for a correct and comprehensive NATIONAL CALENDAR.

The nature, uses, and extraordinary sanitary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the staple tonic and alterative of more than half the christian world, are fully set forth in its pages, which are also interspersed with pictorial illustration's, valuable recipes for the household and farm, humorous anecdotes, and other instructive and amusing reading matter, original and selected. Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful, and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood. The Bitters are sold in every city, town and village, and are extensively used throughout the entire civilized world.

THE WEATHER.—We need not tell our readers in this section that the weather, since Friday, has been unusually cold for this latitude. On Saturday the thermometer stood at 11, and we hear that the ice ponds in the vicinity of the city are in skating order. The wind has been exceedingly biting and the sunshine seemed no warmer than phosphorus.

The cold snap brings with it a great deal of suffering to the poor. A gentleman who has the management of a certain charity fund, told us on Saturday, that he had drawn considerably beyond the means in hand, and yet there were numerous applicants he could not supply. The Young Men's Christian Association are without the means to meet the calls upon it; what are the poor to do? Must they perish with cold and hunger right here among us? We allude to the matter that our readers may think of it.

NATIONAL HOTEL.—Monsieur Rutjes seems determined to let none go ahead of him in the hotel keeping line. The National is one of the finest and best houses in the South.

Two very superior Pianos are for sale at the Book Store of A. Williams, which can be purchased at a very reduced price, if early application is made.

ANNIE AND WILLIE'S PRAYER.

The following poem, written by Mrs. Sophia P. Snow, is one of the most exquisitely touching and beautiful that we have ever read. It cannot fail to reach the hearts of all who peruse it, besides being peculiarly appropriate to the holidays:

'Twas the eve before Christmas, "Good night" had been said,
And Annie and Willie had crept into bed;
There were tears on their pillows, and tears in their eyes,
And each little bosom was heavy with sighs—
For to-night their stern father's command had been given,
That they should retire precisely at seven,
Instead of eight; for they troubled him more
With questions unheard of than ever before;
He had told them he thought this delusion a sin,
No such being as "Santa Claus" ever had been
And he hoped, after this, he should never more hear
How he scrambled down chimneys with presents each year.
And this was the reason that two little heads
So restlessly tossed on their soft downy beds,
Right, nine, and the clock on the steeple tolled ten;
Not a word had been spoken by either till then,
When Willie's sad face from the blanket did peep,
And whispered, "Dear Annie, is you fast asleep?"
"Why, no, brother Willie," a sweet voice replies,
"I've tried it in vain, but I can't shut my eyes;
For, somehow it makes me so sorry because
Dear papa has said there is no 'Santa Claus;'
Now we know there is, and it can't be denied,
For he came every year before mamma died,
But then, I've been thinking that she used to pray,
And God would hear everything mamma would say,
And perhaps she asked Him to send Santa Claus here,
With the sacks full of presents he brought every year."
"Well, why tan't we pay dest as mamma did then,
And ask him to send him with presents aden?"
"I've been thinking so, too." And, without a word more
Poor little bare feet bounded out on the floor,
And four little knees the soft carpet pressed,
And two tiny hands were clasped close to each breast.
"Now, Willie, you know we must firmly believe
That the presents we ask for we're sure to receive;
You must wait just as still till I say the 'Amen'
And by that you will know that your turn has come then."
"Dear Jesus, look down on my brother and me,
And grant us the favor we are asking of Thee;
I want a wax dolly, a tea-set and ring,
And an ebony work-box that shuts with a spring;
A box full of candy, a book and a toy,
Amen, and then Dessus, I'll be a good boy."
Their prayers being ended, they raised up their heads,
And hearts light and cheerful again sought their beds;
They were soon lost in slumber, both peaceful and deep,
And with fairies in Dreamland were roaming in sleep.
Right, nine, and the little French clock had struck ten,
Ere the father had thought of his children again;
He seems now to hear Annie's half suppressed sighs,
And to see the big tears stand in Willie's blue eyes.
"I was harsh with my darlings," he mentally said,
"And should not have sent them so early to bed;
But then I was troubled—my feelings found vent,
For bank stock to-day has gone down ten per cent.
But, of course, they've forgot their troubles ere this
And that I denied them the thrice-asked for kiss;
But, just to make sure, I'll steal up to their door,
For I never spoke harsh to my darlings before."
So saying, he softly ascended the stairs,
And arrived at the door to hear both of their prayers.
His Annie's "bless papa" drawn forth the big tears,
And Willie's grave promise falls sweet on his ears.
"Strange, strange I'd forgotten," said he with a sigh,
"How I longed, when a child, to have Christmas draw nigh."
"I'll atone for my harshness," he inwardly said,
"By answering their prayers ere I sleep in my bed."
Then he turned to the stairs and softly went down,
Threw off velvet slippers and silk dressing-gown,
Donned hat, coat and boots, and was out in the street,
A millionaire facing the cold, driving sleet,
Nor stopped he until he had bought everything,
From the box full of candy to the tiny gold ring;
Indeed, he kept adding so much to his store,
That the various presents outnumbered a score,
Then homeward he turned with his holiday load,
And with Aunt Mary's aid in the nursery 'twas stowed;
Miss dolly was seated beneath a pine tree,
By the side of a table spread out for her tea;
A work-box well filled in the center was laid,
And on it a ring, for which Annie had prayed,
A soldier in uniform stood by a sled,
"With bright shining runners, and all painted red."
There were balls, dogs, and horses, books pleasing to see,
And birds of all colors were perched in the tree;
While Santa Claus, laughing, stood up in the top,
As if getting ready more presents to drop.
And as the fond father the picture surveyed,
He thought for his trouble he had amply been paid.
And he said to himself, as he brushed off a tear,
"I'm happier to-night than I have been for a year.
"I've enjoyed more true pleasure than ever before,
What care I if bank stock falls ten per cent. more!
Hereafter I'll make it a rule, I believe,
To have Santa Claus visit us each Christmas Eve."
So thinking he gently extinguished the light
And tripped down the stairs to retire for the night.
As soon as the beams of the bright morning sun
Put the darkness to flight and the stars one by one,
Your little blue eyes out of sleep opened wide,
And at the same moment the presents espied,
Then out of their beds they sprang with a bound,
And the very gifts prayed for were all of them found.
They laughed and they cried in their innocent glee,
And shouted for "papa" to come quick and see
What presents old Santa Claus brought in the night,
(Just the things that they wanted), and left before light.
"And now," added Annie, in a voice soft and low,
"You'll believe there's a Santa Claus, papa; I know."
While dear little Willie climbed up on his knee
Determined no secret between them should be;
And told in soft whispers, how Annie had said,
That their dear, blessed mamma so long ago dead,
Used to kneel down and pray by the side of her chair,
And that God up in heaven had answered her prayer;
Then we got up and prayed just as well as we could,
And Dest answered our prayers, now wasn't He dood?"
"I should say that He was, if He sent you all those,
And knew just what presents my children would please.
(Well, well, let him think so, the dear little elf,
'Twould be cruel to tell him I did it myself.")
Blind father! who caused your stern heart to relent?
And the hasty word spoken so soon to repent?
'Twas the Being who made you steal softly up stairs
And made you his agent to answer their prayers.

North Carolina Land Office,

RALEIGH, N. C.

TO LAND OWNERS:

The object of this enterprise since its commencement, now nearly two years, has been and will continue to be to induce immigration to our State, and to turn the tide from the great West to our sunny South; also to call their attention to the superior advantages and inducements we hold out over all other States.

Now being the season of the year when farmers and others have leisure to travel, and many are visiting our State, examining farms with a view of purchasing, to come and make their homes with us, we would particularly request all land owners, who have land to sell or lease, and wish to find buyers for the same to call at our office or address us as below. There is scarcely a day goes by but what we receive letters making inquiry, and as it COSTS NOTHING TO TRY TO SELL THROUGH THIS OFFICE, and so many are anxious to find customers that all can avail themselves of this opportunity of offering for sale land of every kind. Our charges being only two-and-one-half per cent. on gross amount of sales, for advertising, and all other expenses included, and this only when a sale is perfected. Many, I know, have a delicacy in offering their lands, as they do not wish their neighbors to know that their property is on the market. This is prevented in our office; no information given unless we know the parties to be buyers, and we do not advertise any farms or lands within the State unless requested to do so. I have been trying and making every effort since I came here two years ago, to induce our land owners to divide their large tracts, and sell one-half or more to energetic men, with money, at a reasonable price, and on easy terms, to enable them to improve the part they bought. Some have taken my advice, and now the one-half is worth more than the whole was eighteen months ago. This is the true course to be pursued, as but very few buyers from the Northern States want more than from one hundred to three hundred acres in a farm, and will give more in proportion for such tracts than they will for the large plantations of one thousand and two thousand acres. If you want to encourage immigration, send us a part of your lands for sale, that we may offer such inducements as will bring thousands to our State.

R. KINGSLAND,
Secretary and General Director,
WM. D. DANIEL, Of Halifax County, Assistant Secretary. Raleigh, N. C. P. O. Box 300.

JUDGE CANTWELL AND HIS COURT.

We understand that Judge Cantwell, of the Special Court, of Wilmington, has been in the city this week, looking after the interest of his Court, or rather, after his interest in the Court, and trying to induce the Legislature to continue his Court and thereby continue his bread and butter.

Now we know the necessity for this Special Court in Wilmington is a matter of controversy; some think it necessary, some think it otherwise; we have no intention of taking part in the controversy, for or against.

But the question of retaining Col. Cantwell as Judge of the special Court of Wilmington, is much less a matter of doubt. We think the utility of the Court by no means depends on his continuance as Judge, indeed we think his continuance of Judge would be a strong argument for the abolition of the Court.

Our opinion in this matter is based upon the many queer decisions and acts of his, in his official capacity, some of which, in addition to their novelty, are said to be unjust and oppressive.

Of the many singular decisions of Judge Cantwell's, reported from time to time in the Wilmington papers, we select the following of recent date, which, if not as learned and lengthy as some of the Supreme Court opinions, may lay claim to as much of novelty as any of them:

CITY COURT.—James Reynolds, the colored individual who attempted to rob Mr. Stevenson's store on Friday night, was carried before the city court yesterday on a charge of petty larceny. The following are the findings of the Court: Not guilty of carrying away; guilty of the taking.

We selected this from the reported proceedings of Col. Cantwell's Court, from a Wilmington exchange, and commend it to the consideration of the Legislature when the Wilmington special Court case and Judge Cantwell's continuance comes up for consideration.

Whole Certificates, $5; Halves $2 50; Quarters, $1 25.

WHAT THE CITY PRESS SAY:

PRIZE DRAWING.—Quite a crowd assembled at the Theatre yesterday noon, to witness the Grand Drawing of the North Carolina Beneficial Association. There were 100 prizes in all, and little rolls of paper separating these were placed in a wheel on one side, while the tickets were in another wheel opposite to the former. Between the two was a table, at which sat the Judges and Mr. John Lossing, Commissioner. The wheels were made with glass sides, so that everything within them could be seen and were securely locked, until the drawing began. This was done by means of two little boys, who were securely blindfolded, one drawing a number from one of the wheels and the other the prize to correspond with it. There is no question but that the drawing was done in a perfectly fair and just manner.—Wilmington Daily Journal, Dec. 2nd.

THE GRAND DRAWING YESTERDAY.—The grand single number distribution of the N. C. Beneficial Association, which took place at the Theatre yesterday, at 1 o'clock, was the all absorbing theme during the day. The drawing took place in public, a committee having been selected from the audience to act with the Commissioner in keeping an account of the same and to see that it was conducted fairly. Quite a respectable crowd was present to witness the drawing. The following numbers drew the principal prizes: No. 4410, $5,000; No. 6005, $2,500; No. 5776, $2,000; No. 2842, $1,000; No. 1407, $1,000; No. 4422, $1,000; No. 1496, $500. LIFE INSURANCE AS AN INVESTMENT.

THE

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW YORK.

Cash Assets over $1,500,000,

ISSUES ALL FORMS OF NON FORFEITABLE, WHOLE LIFE AND ENDOWMENT POLICIES, on the Mutual Cash Plan, declaring dividends annually after the first annual premium paid. Assets exclusively Cash, with no portion of its reserve fund in premium notes, consequently its "reserve" is stronger than that of any company doing business in this State. No "definite surrender values guaranteed" as an inducement to new business, but reference is made to the average amount paid on each surrendered policy, as shown by the New York Insurance Reports, 1869, as evidence of having paid larger surrender values, than has been given under a minimum "Definite Cash Surrender Value." Death losses have not occurred out of several hundred policy holders in this State, which fact must establish the better ability of the Company to pay larger dividends than companies having an excessive mortality, the result of a selection of bad risks. "Fictitious Dividends" are not declared, but dividends are given from the actual surplus, in accordance with the Company's charter. The attention of the public is invited to the following comparison of cost, demonstrating the advantages over ordinary insurances, of the POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!!

THE BROOKLYN LIFE IS THE ONLY COMPANY IN AMERICA WHICH GUARANTEES

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

IN CASE A POLICY IS FORFEITED FOR NON-PAYMENT OF PREMIUM.

The BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for judgment of investment, economy of management, and skill and care in the selection of risks, upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully seek for this important safeguard. It will be found in the BROOKLYN LIFE.

19. The profits of the business are apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution Plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division, and not by the mode adopted by many Companies.
